Fire Safety and Lithium-ion Battery Online Workshop

Fires at solid waste facilities represent a significant safety challenge for operators and the rise in lithium-ion battery use has added to recent fire safety challenges. In this webinar you will hear from insurance providers on fire safety concerns when underwriting a facility and recommendations for the industry. Fire Rover will share their fire prevention system for solid waste facilities. Finally, we will discuss best management practices and policy issues related to lithium-ion batteries for solid waste companies. There will be time for Q&A.
